HISTORY OF QUACKENBUSH POST G. A. R. AND WOMAN'S RELIEF CORPS NO. 25.

Their Noble and Successful Struggle To Perpetuate the Memory of the Nation's Honored Defenders.—Thanks to All Who Assisted.—Description of the Monument.—How the Funds Were Raised.

In the year 1880, on the death of a soldier named Napoleon Perrier, Comrades E. L. Brewer, D. Blair and A. J. Patterson, not wishing to have him or other soldiers buried in the Potter's field, raised a fund towards the purchase of a soldiers' lot from the Oakhill Cemetery Company, east of the lake. Comrade Brewer became responsible for the balance of the amount, and afterwards turned the lot over to Quackenbush Post. Later the Post thought it advisable to purchase a larger and more valuable lot, and one was selected south of the lake. It was expected to sell or turn the old lot towards the purchase of the new one, and raise by subscription a fund for the payment of the balance required, but not very much was collected.

On May 8th, 1889, the city council generously donated a soldiers' lot, 66x60 feet, on the opposite side of the street from the one selected. The old lot was presented to the Woman's Relief Corps.

Monument to be Unveiled in Oak Hill Cemetery, May 31, 1897.

In the year 1880, L. B. Quackenbush Post No. 205, Grand Army of the Republic, and their auxiliary, the Woman's Relief Corps No. 26, decided to commence the raising of funds to erect a soldiers' monument on the beautiful soldiers' lot in Oakhill cemetery which was donated by the City of Owosso. On May 15th of the same year, the quartermaster of the Post reported the amount of $6.00 in the Post monument fund. This amount was increased by subscriptions from citizens in 1889, for the purchase of a soldiers' lot, before the city council donated a lot, and later transferred to the monument fund; also receipts from a camp fire entertainment April 15th, 1890; balance of National Encampment fund, Oct. 21, 1891; balance of fund left after paying expense of Michigan G. A. R. department on the Woman's Relief Corps and from various sources until the fund amounted in 1897 to $100.

On Jan. 5th, 1893, Commander M. C. Dawes, by direction of the post, appointed a soldiers' monument committee consisting of Comrades Julius Frieseke, G. W. Loring, W. A. Richardson, C. C. Duff, and Hugo Wesener.

The Woman's Relief Corps on March 12, 1889, established a monument fund of $50 from the funds that they had raised towards the purchase of a soldiers' lot. Mrs. Nancy Vogler, a member of the corps, presented the sum of $10 for the fund, increasing the amount to $60.

The corps appointed as a monument committee, Mesdames M. C. Dawes, Sarah A. Wiley and M. G. Whited. From that time the members of the corps commenced a noble and active effort to secure funds, as they were determined that a beautiful monument should be built in memory of those who offered their lives in 1861 to 1865 in defending our nation's honor. That noble band of women by perseverance and energy increased their fund from entertainments, suppers, gatherings, donations from friends, until their fund amounted to $400.

Towards this fund Mrs. D. W. Sharts gave $5.00 on Dec. 14th, 1892, and $5.00 on Jan. 22, 1893.

On Jan. 4th, 1893, Comrade A. B. Crane, in behalf of Henderson Post, that had disbanded, presented $10. Comrade A. J. Patterson gave $5, Feb. 12th, 1896, and $5 more Feb. 20th.

Comrade Hugo Wesener also donated $7 to the fund.
